UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

THREE COMMANDERS.

MEN WHO WOULD LEAD EUROPEAN ARMIES IN CASE OF WAR.

An Englishman Who Thinks It Would Be Profitable to Make a Technical Comparison Between Viscount Wolseley and a Russian and French General.

I do not know the new commander in chief of the English land forces. I saw him once or twice in my life, but this is many years ago, and in military matters of the magnitude involved in the supreme command of a great army I am afraid I should prove an incompetent critic. But I believe to a great extent in physiognomy, and if Viscount Wolseley be not a very clever man he ought to bring an action for libel against his face, for he looks decidedly clever. If there were any doubt in my mind about his ability, it would be set at rest by the not very enthusiastic remarks in connection with his appointment I read in one or two French newspapers. "You are an irritable people, envious, jealous and proud to a degree," said Bismarck to General de Wimpffen on Sept. 1, 1870. "You are an irritable people, envious, jealous and proud to a degree," he repeated. "You were under the impression that victory is an appendage which was exclusively reserved to you."

Has the quarter of a century gone by since those words were uttered made a difference in that respect in the French people? I should not like to say.

It may not be altogether uninteresting to look at the two men against whom the English commander in chief will be pitted if a quarrel should ever unhappily break forth in Europe. I am alluding to the commanders in chief of the Russian and the French forces.

The Russian army contains several men of unquestionable capacity; nevertheless, there appears to be a consensus of opinion that, in the event of war, with no matter whom, the supreme command would virtually devolve upon General Obroutcheff, to the exclusion even of General Kouropatkine. I say virtual command, for, nominally, young Nicholas would be at the head of his legions.

Having declared myself at the outset incapable of judging the English commander in chief from a military point of view, I am not going to stultify myself by endeavoring to do this in the case of Obroutcheff. I only repeat what I have heard. Until very recently the chief of Vannowski's staff and Aid-de-camp General Obroutcheff was, in spite of his recognized talents, looked askance at in Russian military circles. The epithet "red" was invariably tacked to his name as late as 15 years ago, and the third section of the imperial chancellerie, without troubling to inquire into the matter, placed him on the list of "dangerous" men "to be watched very closely." A note like that from the Russian police becomes practically indelible, and, aid-de-camp general though he was, not the slightest attempt was made to efface his name from the list. After his exploits on the Danube Loris Melikoff drew the attention of Alexander II to this apparently flagrant injustice, to this permanent insult. The name was maintained on the list for all that, but the epithet was changed from "red" into "well meaning."

Obroutcheff has married a Frenchwoman, and is a declared partisan—or supposed to be—of an alliance with France. His views in that respect date from 1870, when he was an obscure general. I repeat, about his abilities there is little or no doubt. After the first checks in the Turko-Russian campaign he was sent in hot haste to the Danube, and he is credited with having saved the Russian army from total destruction. Before that, though, he had already become the intimate friend of the heir to the throne, and the friendship underwent no diminution during Alexander III's reign.

Wherever the scene of the next European campaign of the French may be laid, General Felix Gustave Saussier, the present military governor of Paris, is beforehand designated as the leader. Saussier is close upon 70. In spite of his large size he is very active, but for that size he would give one the idea of a mousquetaire of the Louis XIV period dressed in modern uniform. There is no doubt, about his value as a soldier, which does not always mean an equal value as a supreme commander, but it is fair to state that in the battles around Metz, a quarter of a century ago, he distinguished himself most signally. The famous infantry charge at St. Privat, which practically barred the progress of the Germans on that side, was led by him.

Saussier was one of the officers who signed the protest against the surrender of Metz. Having refused to pledge himself not to serve again during the campaign, he was sent as prisoner of war to Cologne. Nor would he give his promise not to escape, consequently he was transported to a small town on the Vistula (Grandenz, I believe), and absolutely sequestrated—without effect, for he made his escape after all.

He allowed Gambetta to remain ignorant of all this, as well as of his republican origin, and the "great tribune," whose infallible instinct has been vaunted so much, only looked upon Saussier as a colonel of the empire and treated him as such. After that Saussier went once more to Algeria. Saussier, I should say, has had more fighting than any general in the French army, but it would be rash to say that this made him a strategist. A brilliant soldier he was and is still, in spite of his age, and as he was barely 40 when France suffered her reverses he may have profited by them. To many in France herself he is an unknown quantity. These are the two men a comparison with whom and Viscount Wolseley it would be profitable to establish, but I mean a technical comparison.—London Illustrated News.

POINTS ON FREAKS.

SOME BORN TO THE PROFESSION, OTHERS THRUST UPON IT.

If Nature Hasn't Been Kind to You In Giving You an Odd Number of Limbs or Hirsute Adornments Where They Ought Not to Be, You Must Achieve Notoriety.

"Any one who has remarked the gregarious element in human nature, which makes every one eager to see what the other has seen, will not marvel at the success which notoriety has attained in the show business," said the manager of a popular museum.

"Notoriety, no matter how and where obtained, is just so much stock in trade, and people in our line of work are willing to pay any price for it. To make no account of the money value of the advertisement, they are delighted to know that they are being talked about and speculated about, and to see their names in the newspapers. You see how high that dome is?" he continued, pointing to the arched space far above the ropes and bars stretched across for acrobatic performances. "Well, a man came in here, offered to jump from its highest point down to the floor so as to make a name for himself. It would have been certain death, you know, to attempt it, but he said he had practiced jumping, knew how to manage and would escape injury. He begged to be allowed to make the jump and was much cast down at our refusal.

"That man only expected to jump once. After having performed the feat he felt that he would be a curiosity worth money to see.

"Anyway, we business people see that the public crave amusement of this kind, and we are delighted to gratify them.

"At the time of the 'White Cap' agitation, when there was so much talk in the papers about their outrages, a man offered to exhibit himself as a tarred and feathered victim just returned from the west, and we let him do it. Moreover, the public encouraged him to do it, for they came in flocks to see him. The tattooed woman who was paid $100 a day was tattooed right here in New York, but the work was marvelously well done, and the fairy tale about her, as told by the showman, only heightened the crowd's interest and harmed nobody. She was represented in the story as having been stranded on one of the Sandwich islands, shipwrecked, with her husband, who was put to death. Her life was spared, but she was put to torture, having these extraordinary characters tattooed all over her body. There were from 500 to 700 people at each one of the 21 daily performances at which that tattooed woman was exhibited, and all were pleased at the show, for which they paid 10 cents."

"Do many of these freaks, remarkable for various reasons, get fine salaries?"

"Indeed they do. We paid a certain midget $700 a week. Her father and the family traveled with her, and got rich out of it. Then that wonderful Oregon horse with the trailing mane and tail was paid $900 a week for several months. The two headed negro girl, or girls, has made a fortune, and I could mention any number of celebrated freaks who have profited financially.

"Each day we get letters from all over the country—all over the world—offering us freaks of nature. This one sends a photograph of a sheep having a fifth leg and hoof growing out of his shoulder. This one sends a cow with a horn projecting from her back. Here is a letter from a handless man in West Virginia. He writes with his toes and writes a very good letter."

That box of photographs unearthed from little used recesses to refresh the showman's mind! What a galaxy, not of beauty, but of the bizarre and the grotesque! Bearded women taken in decollete gowns, their masculine faces in revolting contrast to the feminine neck and arms; men without legs or arms; tremendously fat men, and men so thin that they were photographed prone upon a couch, limp and helpless; men who had starved themselves in order to live. The strong woman is there, and her remarkable sister, with a veritable horse's mane growing upon her back.

"That was a clever scheme this fellow devised," said the showman, adjusting his glasses so as to view a likeness. "He represented himself as having a gunshot wound through and through the body, and then he fixed up an optical delusion apparatus which made it appear that people could look straight through him. We displayed a colored photograph at the back, and the people could see that picture on the other side of the man. You have no idea what a furore there was about it. That was down on the Bowery. Everybody wanted to look through the man with the gunshot wound. Then, finding that the man was such a howling success a woman fixed herself up as having been speared through the body with her husband's bayonet, the victim of cruelty and brutality. We fixed it for the crowd to look through her, and she was no end of a success. She stood there surrounded by red curtains with a pathetic, rapt look on her face, and the people couldn't get enough of looking through her at the bouquet of flowers displayed at her back.

"People will delight in signs and wonders as long as the world endures," added the showman, "and just so long will scientists and magicians cater to their desires. In Paris there is an institution where infants are made into freaks as systematically as flour is made into bread. Those in charge are skillful physicians, it is said, who know just how much the human anatomy can be crippled and cramped and distorted without injury to life. The babies' limbs are manipulated when tender and pliable, and they soon grow misshapen and grotesque."—New York Tribune.

Two or Four Years.

The terms of county officers elected last year. Are they two or four years in length? Read the sections of the County Government law bearing upon the subject and see if you are enough of a "Philadelphia lawyer" to tell:

Sec. 57. The officers of a county are a Sheriff, County Clerk, an Auditor, a Recorder, a Tax Collector, a District Attorney, an Assessor, a Treasurer, a Superintendent of Schools, a Public Administrator, a Coroner, a Surveyor, the members of the Board of Supervisors, and such other officers as may be provided by law. * * *

Sec. 60. All elective county and township officers, except otherwise provided for in this act, shall be elected at the general election to be held in November, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-four and every four years thereafter, unless otherwise herein provided, and shall take office at twelve o'clock, meridian, on the first Monday after the first day of January next succeeding their election. Supervisors shall be elected as hereinbefore provided. All officers elected under the provisions of this act shall hold office until their successors are elected or appointed and qualified.

Subdivision 26, section 170. The offices mentioned in section 57 of this Act, except as hereinafter provided, shall be elected in the year Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-four, and every two years thereafter, and shall take office at twelve o'clock, meridian, on the first Monday after the first day of January next succeeding their election; providing that Supervisors, Assessors and Superintendents of Schools shall be elected as hereinbefore provided in this Act. All officers elected under the provisions of this Act shall hold office until their successors are elected or appointed and qualified. — Napa Register.

DURRANT, the sanctimonious young murderer, who sacrificed Blanche Lamont on the altar of lust, has been sentenced to be hanged in San Quentin prison on Friday, February 21st. The condemned ex-Secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society of Emannuel Church was brought up to believe that it was a sin to attend theatres, parties and masquerades. Had it been otherwise no doubt poor Blanche Lamont would have been alive to-day and Durrant, instead of being a convicted murderer, might have been a useful member of society. There are two sides to every proposition.

SAN FRANCISCO got left on the National Republican Convention. St. Louis secured the prize. On the first ballot San Francisco led by nineteen votes, her competitors being St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Chicago and New York. The convention will convene on June 16th.

HARRY HAYWARD, the Minnesota murderer, who killed Miss Ging, was hanged in Minneapolis Wednesday. He richly deserved his fate.

Attention.

Prof. Heymann, the eye specialist and optician from Germany, will be at the Union Hotel, Sonoma, beginning Monday, October 7th for one week, where he will treat, free of charge, all diseases of the eye. The professor will be in Sonoma regularly once a month and the public is kindly asked to consult him before accepting any kind of treatment. The permanent office and residence of the professor is at San Jose, California, where he has earned an enviable reputation as a high skilled oculist. *

Walter Parson, a giant of seven and a half feet, served under King Charles I. He often amused the King by picking up two stout yeomen and skipping about with them in his arms.

A. E. Kilpatrick, of Fillmore, Cal. had the misfortune to have his leg caught between a cart and a stone and badly bruised. Ordinarily he would have been laid up for two or three weeks, but says: "After using one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm I began to feel better, and in three days was entirely well. The peculiar soothing qualities which Chamberlain's Pain Balm possesses I have never noticed in any other liniment. I take pleasure in recommending it." This liniment is also of great value for rheumatism and lame back. or sale by all dealers.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Nearly $250,000 Turned Over to the County Treasurer by Tax Collector Allen.

On Saturday last Sam. I. Allen, Sonoma's Sheriff and Tax Collector, turned over to Treasurer Woodward the sum of $248,186.59, which for the most part had been deposited in the various banks in the county by that official for safe keeping. These funds bear no interest, are non-negotiable and payable to the Treasurer only on special deposit receipts on presentation to the banks having the custody of the county's money. Sheriff Allen's statement for the month of November is as follows:

State and County Tax—
Outside, First Installment.....	$160,398 29
Outside, Second Installment...	10,247 60
Inside, First Installment.....	41,858 20
Inside, Second Installment ...	10,070 16
Special School Tax
Outside, First Installment.....	4,749 71
Inside, First Installment.....	14,468 99
County Licenses.....	1,105 00
Sheriff's Fees.....	75 00
Auditor's Fees.....	37 50
Civil Fees.....	185 14
Total.....	$243,186 59
Authorization—
State and County Tax.....	$222,574 25

Civil Fees.....	185 14
Amount Paid to County Treasurer.....	$243,074 09
Fees of Sheriff and Auditor.....	112 50
Total.....	$243,186 59

This, with the money on hand in the county treasury December 4th, as shown by the report of the county examiners, $86,867.85, makes $330,000 in the custody of the County Treasurer.

COUNTY FUNDS.

Can They be Deposited in the Banks by the Treasurer?

Judge Dougherty on Saturday last rendered his decision in the case of the People vs. E. F. Woodward, County Treasurer of Sonoma county.

The action was brought for the purpose of testing the right of County Treasurers to deposit funds belonging to counties in banks for safe keeping, and taking a receipt therefore. Judge Dougherty's decision, which has been looked forward to with great interest by County Treasurers in general and the banks in particular which do not have to pay interest on such deposits, says in substance that the funds of a county can be so deposited.

Judge Dougherty, in deciding the case said: "It seems to me that the official duties could not be defined in clearer language than they are in this instance, and the report of these officers is a complete answer to their applications for the writ. It shows that they determined the amount that ought to be in the treasury and the amount and kind of money actually therein and made their report.

"The argument upon this demurrer took a wide range but it is not necessary to a decision that all the points should be considered.

"I hold that the report of these officers of their proceedings at the time complained of shows that the County Treasurer did not hinder or prevent them from performing their duties in counting the money in the county treasury. If the purpose of the law was to show its true condition; the true condition is shown by the report.

"The demurrer to the answer is overruled. So ordered."

The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Geo. W. Jenkins, editor of the Santa Maria "Times," Cal., in speaking of the various ailments for children said: "When my children have croup there is only one patent medicine that I ever use, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It possesses some medical properties that relieves the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If this remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. There is no danger in giving it to children, as it contains nothing injurious. For sale by all dealers.

There is nothing that causes women greater discomfort and misery than the constant recurring headache. Men suffer less with headache. The Board of Trustees of the Home for Feeble Minded will meet with Governor Budd at the Home on the 17th inst., to examine the water supply and determine if enough cannot be had to run an electric light motor, which will save $2000 a year in the cost of lights.

The Home for Feeble Minded at Eldridge, near Glen Ellen, has issued its annual greeting to the people in the shape of a reminder that the inmates of the Home need a little cheering up on Christmas, and contributions of suitable articles and especially of money are solicited, all of which can be sent to Dr. Osborne at the Home.

The lateness of the arrival of the Donahue train on Monday morning last was caused by the derailment of the engine just as the tunnel near San Rafael was being entered by the morning train. As the engineer approached the tunnel a large boulder fell across the track and before he could bring the train to a standstill the engine collided with the obstruction with the above result. The passengers were badly shaken up and many were nearly scared out of their boots, but fortunately no one was injured. The accident caused a delay of over an hour.

It is reported that Governor Budd is to decapitate Farm Manager, Robt. P. Hill of the Home for Feeble Minded and his five assistants by abolishing the office. It is said, however, that the Governor will, in all probability, appoint Mr. Hill overseer of the farm. Ever since the Home was established in this valley Mr. Hill, who is a farmer and orchardist of great experience, has had charge of the farming operations of the institution and has filled the position ably and economically.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Young Lady Falls from a Ladder and Breaks a Limb.

Miss Natalie Haraszthy, granddaughter of the late Gen. Vallejo, while ascending the loft of a stable in the rear of the family residence, on Tuesday morning last, fell a distance of seven or eight feet and broke her right leg just above the ankle. The fracture was a bad one, the broken bone protruding through the flesh. The ankle was also dislocated. Dr. Walliser was sent for and set the broken limb. The accident may make Miss Haraszthy a cripple for life. About a year ago her sister, Miss Lolita, fell from the same ladder and sprained an ankle.

The Small Boy and the Blue Crane.

One day last week a large blue crane passed over town and finally alighted in the branches of a tall gum tree on Lewis Adler's place on Spain street. The small boy of Sonoma was on the alert and several of him sallied forth armed with slingshots, and cautiously approaching the tree took aim and brought down the bird, which measured nearly six feet from tip to tip of wing. A dispute then arose among the lads as to which one had killed and was entitled to the bird. While the dispute was waxing hot one of Sonoma's citizens happened along and wanted to know what all the fuss was about. The small boy stated his case and in turn was informed that he was liable to fine and imprisonment for killing the bird. It was then that each in his turn was sure he had missed the crane with his slingshot and the contest over the ownership was abandoned. Verily, circumstances do alter cases sometimes.

New Advertisements.

This week the new ads of several of Sonoma's enterprising merchants appear in another column. Mrs. J. A. Poppe announces a complete and new assortment of holiday goods, consisting of toys, novelties and fancy goods, candies, raisins, etc. The Christmas and New Years presents displayed in this store are all that could be desired by old Santa Claus, who is invited to call and see for himself.

DeGrazia & Co. are offering special inducements in gentlemens' furnishing goods, boots, shoes and hats. These goods must be sold and have been marked down next to nothing.

S. Schocken, not to be outdone by others, has on display in his show windows and on his counters all kinds of Christmas and New Years presents which he is selling at surprisingly low prices.

H. A. Lozier, 304 McAllister street, San Francisco, advertises the Cleveland bicycle for the first time in these columns this week. If you intend buying a bicycle it would be worth your while to give Lozier & Co. a call and examine their wheels.

Frank Weems, dealer in groceries and general produce, has recently established a commission house in San Francisco which will be run in conjunction with his business in Sonoma. He will supply consumers in San Francisco with produce from Sonoma Valley. This will be a good thing for the farmers of Sonoma and vicinity as it does away with a middleman and nets the producer much more for his produce.

Batto's Fruit Dryer.

Batto's fruit dryer, located at Vineyard Station, near this place, closed down for the season this week. During the past six months this dryer has purchased 400 tons of green fruit from our orchardists, besides giving employment to twelve or fourteen hands at fair wages. The dryer will resume operations next spring, and expects to increase its capacity for handling green fruit. The Messrs. Batto have shipped Sonoma Valley apples to almost every part of the civilized world the past year.

THRILLING RUNAWAY.

One Horse Killed, Several Maimed and Three Vehicles Badly Demolished.

Narrow Escape of a Number of People.

The most thrilling and remarkable runaway that has ever taken place in Sonoma startled the residents of this town last Thursday afternoon and created intense excitement for twenty minutes or more.

About 2 o'clock on the above afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Peter Regli, residing on the Hagen ranch, five miles from Napa, were driving a spirited two-horse rig into town. When opposite the residence of Robt. Poppe, one of the singletrees broke and caused the animals to make a sudden bolt and Mr. Regli lost control of them. They then came tearing down Napa street at breakneck speed, both sides of that thoroughfare being lined with all sorts of of rigs.

As the now-frantic horses drew near the Postoffice it was seen that Mrs. Regli was assisting her husband to stop the animals. Both had their feet braced against the dashboard of the buggy and had a tight grip on the lines and exhibited great nerve.

Reaching the Postoffice corner, the horses in their mad career leaped bodily into O. B. Shaw's horse and buggy, completely wrecking it. Disentangling themselves from the wreck the animals again dashed forward and after going a few feet both stumbled. The lines were violently wrenched out of Mr. and Mrs. Regli's hands and they were pitched head foremost over the dashboard and fell in a heap at the feet of the struggling animals, which were instantly up and off again. Mr. and Mrs. Regli scrambled to their feet uninjured.

The runaways then collided with Wm. McElroy's wagon, in which was seated his wife and two little children, but who managed to alight just in time to save themselves. The force of this collision was sufficient to release the runaways from the buggy and they rushed onward, leaving the vehicle behind. They then dashed frantically among a number of teams hitched alongside the walk in front of Muldry's saloon.

At this juncture stampeding horses, wrecked vehicles and fleeing men and women were to be seen on every side and for a time it looked as though pandemonium had been turned loose in this otherwise quiet and peaceful town.

At Muldry's the animals took to the sidewalk, carrying a horse and go-cart with them. Here all three horses were mixed up in a heap. In colilding with the cart the runaways broke both shafts, the sharp point of one entering the breast of one of the animals to the depth of a foot or more. This, however, did not stop them, and both rushed along the sidewalk until they reached the Sonoma Valley Bank building. Here a number of ladies were standing, and being taken unawares had to flee for their lives. One of them, Mrs. M. K. Cady, had a narrow escape. In attempting to get out of the way she either slipped or was knocked down by the horses, which passed harmlessly by her. The animal that had been pierced by the go-cart shaft then fell dead about twenty yards from Mrs. Cady, who had just regained her feet.

The other runaway then kept on down Broadway and turning the corner of Patten street soon made his way into First-street East and in less than a few seconds rushed right into a group of men at the Postoffice corner, and scattered them in all directions. The animal then collided with another horse and buggy and being thrown to the ground was finally secured. He was frightfully cut about the forelegs by the stone curbing and received injuries which will probably render him valueless.

Summed up the accident caused the death of one horse, two more were crippled, two buggies and a go-cart were wrecked and almost a wagon load of harness was broken.

It is remarkable that no one was killed or injured as the streets and sidewalks were crowded with people, some of whom were in wagons while others were on foot.

While the excitement over the runaways was at its height Gus Anderson's span of mules, which were hitched to a farm wagon hard by, serenly switched their tails and flopped their ears as if inquiring, "what's all this fuss about anyhow?"

The Firemens' Masquerade.

The masquerade ball to be given in this place on New Years' eve by the members of the Sonoma Volunteer Firemen is being looked forward to with much pleasure by the party-going people of this valley, who, as usual, will no doubt turn out en masse. The committee having the affair in hand will endeavor to make the ball the event of the holiday season.

Fred. Batto returned from a business trip to the metropolis last Monday evening.

Welcome as Christmas always is, with its heart-warming feelings of peace and good will, it is none the less a burden to many whose list of friends is slim and kept so by the constant demand for necessaries. Yet the pleasure of bestowing gifts upon those whom you love is too sweet to be foregone, and where time is plentiful and fingers ingenious there are hosts of pretty things that can be made without any great strain upon a limited bank account.

An error was made in last week's issue in regard to the masquerade ball to be given by the scholars of the High School. Instead of a mask ball they will give a social hop on the evening of December 20th, to which the friends and patrons of the school will be invited

It is not so much the valueof a gift as the suitability. Present giving is an art and a little thought at Christmas time for the needs and desires of one's friends will make an intrinsic gift of more value than a useless, expensive one.

Some curious figures have lately been made public by a celebrated Berlin physician, which seems to point to the fact that if a man wants to live long and preserve his health and strength he ought to marry. Among unmarried men between the ages of 30 and 45 the death rate is 27 per cent. Among married men between the same ages it is only 18 per cent. For forty-one bachelors who live to be 40 years of age, seventy-eight married men triumphantly arrive at the same period. And yet, in the face of facts like these, we still find men daring to remain single. It really is as much as their lives are worth, if they only come to think of it. Men may talk of their lives being shortened by domestic worries and anxieties and cares. That is all rubbish. Statistics must tell the truth, and these statistics of the Berlin doctor say that the man who is a bachelor stands in far greater risk of a shortened span.—Spare Moments

SONOMA, SATURDAY, DEC. 14th, 1895.

The Heart and Brain Keep Young.

In his work on the senile heart Dr. Balfour tells us that there are two parts of the human organism which if wisely used "largely escape senile failure." These two are the brain and the heart. Persons who think have often wondered why brain workers should continue to work with almost unimpaired mental activity and energy up to a period when most of the organs and functions of the body are in a condition of advanced senile decay. There is a physiological reason for this, and Dr. Balfour tells us what it is. The normal brain, he affirms, "remains vigorous to the last," and that "because its nutrition is especially provided for." About middle life, or a little later, the general arteries of the body begin to lose their elasticity and to slowly but surely dilate. They become therefore much less efficient carriers of the nutrient blood to the capillary areas. But this is not the case with the internal carotids, which supply the capillary areas of the brain. On the contrary, these large vessels "continue to retain their pristine elasticity, so that the blood pressure remains normally higher than within the capillary area of any other organ in the body. The cerebral blood paths being thus kept open, the brain tissue is kept better nourished than the other tissues of the body."—Medical Record.

Some Good Advice.

Let me urge upon the rising young man in any business always to be an understudy for the position above him. Familiarize yourself with its duties. Know all its requirements. The time will come, sometimes soon and often late, when the question will be asked, "Do you think you can fill the position?" If you know you can, you will answer unhesitatingly, "Certainly!"

If I had my life to live over again, I should devote some of the hours I wasted in useless desultory avocations to the acquisition of a working vocabulary of at least two or three languages besides my own.

Numbers of men possessing no other ability maybe today are starving themselves to death with several languages at their tongue's ends, but no young man possessing the requisite ambition to become a business man would ever find it disadvantageous to his advancement to be at least a linguist in a commercial sense if his knowledge in continental tongues extended no further.—Hardware.

St. Giles, Cripplegate.

There is no church in London more grimly affecting or more grewsomely picturesque than St. Giles', Cripplegate. Its lantern is strangely gaunt and blackened. its towers stark and solemn. The approaches are all straggling and curious. We fancy ourselves in a bit of some old foreign city. The curious skulls and hourglass over the entrance to the churchyard are vigorously done. It escaped the great fire and is an interesting church altogether and picturesque. Here we find Milton's tomb, Foxe's (of the "Book of Martyrs") and that of a daughter of Shakespeare's Lucy. And, as if this were not sufficient to reward one's curiosity, they will show us the registry of the marriage of Oliver Cromwell to Elizabeth Boucher. In the churchyard a large fragment of the old city wall is to be seen.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Humor In the Family.

"One of those lazy, good for nothing tramps called today and wanted a piece of pie," said the landlady during a momentary silence.

The bachelor boarder faltered and laid down his knife and fork.

"And did he get it?" he queried anxiously.

"Not much," returned the landlady. "He got a piece of my mind instead."

"Which probably destroyed his," piped the thin boarder in the tenor voice from the foot of the table.

"His what?" demanded the landlady sternly.

"Peace of mind," explained the thin boarder apologetically.

Everybody cried out in applause at this.—Exchange.

KIDNEY.

E. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from kidney trouble for two or three years. I would have to get up in the night to void my urine from ten to fifteen times. Have to get up about three times during night, and am very much better in every respect. Will continue to take your Vegetable Sarsaparilla, for believe it will entirely cure me.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

Waiters and Tips.

There was astonishment in a Paris cafe recently when a new waiter pocketed the tips he received as his own property, and he was arrested on the complaint of his employer. It is the custom in Paris restaurants employing more than one waiter for the garcons to deposit in a box all the tips received by them, and at the close of the day the head waiter opens this box, counts the money and divides it pro rata, after deducting a certain percentage for the proprietor for breakage. This head waiter is called "the corporal." In Boston head waiters are called "captains," but they do not appear to have any such military designation in New York.—New York Tribune.

Cutting Book Leaves.

A real lover of books hates to see the leaves badly cut. This is the right way of doing it: Lay the book flat on a table or in the lap, holding down the leaves to be cut with the left hand; then with the right insert the paper knife, which should be thin, to the handle in the fold and draw through with a quiet, steady, outward and upward motion—no sawing. Repeat the process as many times as necessary, being especially careful in cutting across the top of the page not to leave a quarter of an inch uncut, as, in case the book is opened wide, it will be liable to tear unevenly.

Light.

Nothing is more necessary than good light and plenty of it. It is civilizing and Christianizing, a means of grace and a measure of morality. Evil and mischief fly before bright light, and personal safety and the security of property are greatly increased when there are no dark corners or midnight hiding places for thieves and interlopers.—New York Ledger.

The popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the high esteem in which it is held leads us to believe it to be an article of great worth and merit. We have the pleasure of giving the experience of three prominent citizens of Redondo Beach, Cal., in the use of the remedy. Mr. A. V. Trudell says: "I have always received prompt relief when I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." Mr. James Orchard says: "I am satisfied that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured my cold." Mr. J. M. Hatcher says: "For three years I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family and its results have always been satisfactory."—For sale by all dealers.
